Seito Table

Table sculpture. There are tables that simply do not need showcasing. Their uniqueness makes them necessarily eye-catching. And that is the case with Seito Table. This dining table is a dream of lightness with its balanced lines, angles and surface.

Effective understatement: the table top made of white quartz, positioned on a base made of elegant nut wood or oak. Small coloured inclusions in the quartz stone are part of the materiality and reflect the natural beauty of the surface. It is a joy to gather around such an impressive table in the very best of company. A table.

Dining in good company The Seito family of dining tables, with surfaces made of natural wood or solid quartz, fits seamlessly into private and public spaces alike. Free-standing in a living or dining room, the dining table commands attention. In hospitality areas, the solid wood creates a refined ambience, while the version with a quartz table top represents both lightness and an exciting combination of materials.

As an optional extra with a round table top: the lazy Susan makes food accessible to everyone at the table. Floating visually on the surface, it gives the furniture additional generosity.
